

I Don't Understand

C F C G
C

When the feeling died we both denied

F C G
The truth we refused to see

F C
G C

The Sunday sun shone bright on a man in flight

F C G
To something he could not be

Am F
C He'd been to the deepest depths of the night

F C
F G
And it was nothing he could talk about

Am F
C He pleaded for mercy and he begged for light

F C F
But he only wanted to find out
C G C
He only wanted to find out

She longed to follow but stayed Her tears betrayed a sorrow she couldn't believe

Choked on anger and pain she felt compelled to remain
When she really wanted to leave

He met her halfway, but they had nothing to say
And they felt the night get old In the distance she'd pray it would soon fade away
And she'd pretend she'd never been told She'd pretend she'd never been told

She called his name and each time
he came To realize she slipped out of a dream Locked and chained he finally explained
His life was not what it seemed

Then she ran to her secret corner in fright
Screaming somebody help me
please
She shivered against the cruel
laughter of the night
With a pain that no one could ease
With a pain that no one could ease

He'd stare out the void of a summer's night

Searching dead eyes in a bar Quick to make sure he could slip out of sight
He didn't want to know how far

And as it got to his brain she appeared in the rain
At his door with a note in her hand
She whispered this will explain
And as she left him again
He read, "I don't understand"
I don't understand

February 10, 1982